2. Mazda RX-8

Mazda's RX-8 used the lightweight 1.3 liter rotary engine, one that, although not lauded for its efficiency, was undeniably performance-oriented. Its compact nature meant Mazda's engineers were able to slide it further back in the car, giving the RX-8 a prime weight distribution profile. Its sharp handling, high-revving manner made the car a genuine driving enthusiast's vehicle.

The Death of the PC

The days of paying for costly software upgrades are numbered. The PC will soon be obsolete. And BusinessWeek reports 70% of Americans are already using the technology that will replace it. Merrill Lynch calls it "a $160 billion opportunity." Computing giants including IBM, Yahoo!, and Amazon are racing to be the first to cash in on this PC-killing revolution. Yet, a small group of little-known companies have a huge head start. Get the full details on these companies, and the technology that is destroying the PC, in a free video from The Motley Fool.
